

BEAUTY

Buly 1803 + Louvre Museum Fragrance Collaboration

By Sarah Joan Ross on 8/7/2019

French pharmacy Buly 1803 channels some of the Louvre museum's most famous works and brings them to life in the form of a scent

Buly 1803 Belle Epoque Packaging

It could be said that Buly 1803 have fragrance down to a fine art. The latest collaboration for the French apothecary brand and their perfumer friends is with the Musée du Louvre in Paris and they are predicting what the 'Nymph with a Scorpion' or the 'Venus de Milo' might smell like, and bottling it just for you. The latter, for instance, is an intoxicating scent that the brand describes as, 'a gentle white of jasmine, neroli, of the matte and polished pearls of magnolia, amber, and sacred wood. Eternal, without past or present, the beauty of the marble goddess, elusive and notional lifts up the soul with timeless bliss.'

Along with the fragrances, expect to find candles in travertine holders, scratch-and-sniff postcards and scented soap sheets with whimsical Belle Epoque illustrations on the packaging.

Find them on sale at the Louvre Museum, or order from Buly 1803, and you can also add engraving to the bottles free of charge too.

More art inspired beauty can be found here.

ARTS & WAFTS

THE COMPLETE FRAGRANCE LINE-UP & THEIR INDIVIDUAL AROMAS

1. "The Valpinçon Bather" by Daniela Andrier, £135

2. "Winged Victory of Samothrace" by Aliénor Massenet, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: A rich harmony of tuberose, magnolia and jasmine enhanced by the warmth of myrrh.

Click here

3. "Nymph with a Scorpion" by Annick Ménardo, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: An enticing bouquet of heliotrope and jasmine, with amber and musk.

Click here

4. "Joseph the Carpenter" by Sidonie Lancesseur, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: A deep note of cedar wood, infused with verbena, pink berries and vetiver.

Click here

5. "Venus de Milo" by Jean-Christophe Hérault, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: An intoxicating combination of mandarin, jasmine and amber.

Click here

6. "Grand Odalisque" by Domitille Michalon-Bertier, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: Incense and pink pepper enhanced with intensely musky notes.

Click here

7. "The Lock" by Delphine Lebau, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: Lily flower and musk combine in a bewitching scent.

Click here

8. "Conversation in a Park" by Dorothee Piot, £135

FRAGRANCE NOTES: Sour touches of peppermint and bergamot in an imposing bouquet of Ottoman roses.

Click here